

Physics Evaluations

- 1 The Physics Department believes it is essential to routinely get feedback on our introductory curriculum. All faculty are encouraged to allocate class time for students to evaluate the course even during semesters when the University does not require it.
- 2 You will have about twenty minutes or so to fill in the online evaluation. The instructor should not be in the room during this time.
- 3 One of the questions on the evaluations is 'How much time did you spend per week?' To answer this question you should count the time both IN class time and out-of-class together.
- 4 Please be specific. If there were procedures, labs, or problem sets that you believe can be improved, tell us which ones. There is an electronic copy of the lab manual in the "Links" section of the course webpage.
- 5 We routinely change our courses in response to feedback. Consider these evaluations an opportunity to influence many future physics students.
